C. Reading Passage

Read the following passage and match each paragraph with one of the headings (main ideas). Write the letters (A, B, C, D) in front of the numbers of the paragraphs.

Headings (main ideas)

- (A) New forms of foods served in restaurants.
- (B) The North American diet includes mostly fast food.
- (C) Ideas about food and eating habits in the future.
- (D) Why people are changing their eating habits.

38. What do most North Americans usually eat? Many people think that the North American diet consists of fast food such as hamburgers, hot dogs, pizza, and so on. They think they also eat a lot of candy, cookies, potato chips, and other things that are usually high in sugar, salt and fat. These substances can cause health problems.
39. However, some people's eating habits are changing. They are becoming more interested in good health, and good food. North Americans are trying to eat less red meat and fewer eggs, and they are eating more chicken and fish because they have less fat than meat and eggs. Many people are also buying more fresh vegetables and eating them raw or cooked quickly in very little water to keep the vitamins.
40. Restaurant menus are also changing. The North American diet now includes food from many different countries. Some new restaurants are opening in big cities in North America. Foods from China, Japan, Korea, and India, are very famous there. Roasted chicken, and salad bars with a wide variety of fresh vegetables and fruits are served.
41. How are we going to eat in the future? Because we now know about the importance of good food, we will probably continue to eat more fish and vegetables and less meat. We will eat foods with less salt and sugar, and instead of candy bars, we will eat "nutrition bars" with a lot of vitamins and protein. In the future, our diet will probably be even more interesting and healthful than it is now.
